

Section 1 (Goals from last week):

This is the first report, and subsequently has no goals regarding the previous week.

Section 2 (This week's progress):

This week I did a lot of work, including wireframing the front end, and writing the html/css for the main note pages. I didn't actually know html or css before this but I thought it would be fun to learn, and it was! I like learning new types of technologies. I actually researched making the front end in react, but there are multiple people working on the front end and i'm not sure if any of them would be interested in learning react. I also did a lot of work on the assignments like the different reports and documents required. I also made the github repository and set up the discord for everyone to use. Luckily these were all pretty easy, so I think the workload will be a lot more distributed once we start working on the actual application since I have not worked with databases but many of our group members have.

Section 3 (Next week's goals):

In terms of my next goals, I want to finish making the html and css for the different pages that we need, and then get flask working with the different pages and set up the router and such. I am hoping that I can also start to think about how I am going to set up the interface so that the back end of the group can actually send and receive data from the front end. I think that will be interesting because it has to do with system architecture as well as programming!

Section 4 (Agenda with instructional team):

Assuming that my "instructional team" is the group that I am working with, there usually isn't a set in stone time that we meet, but we usually spend time after class working one who will be doing what for each section. So that would mean that this week, we will be meeting on tuesday and thursday to try and communicate what the expectations are for that week. There is also, as I previously mentioned, a discord server that we use to communicate in between the days that we meet to clarify anything that needs to be clarified. So that will be used to communicate briefly for clarifications in between tuesday and thursday.
